The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the cited Competition Sports brochure in view of Guenther or Curtice.

In the figure designated RA-117, the brochure shows chair structure as claimed, with the exception of having a slidable drawer. The patents to Guenther (figs. 1,2) and Curtice (figs. 1-3) teach the conventionality of providing a slidable drawer underneath a seat for holding various articles. In view of these teachings, to have provided the seat of the brochure with a sliding drawer thereunder, for storing articles therein, would have been an obvious modification to one with ordinary skill in the art. Note that both Guenther and Curtice show sidewalls and rear walls as claimed that form a skirt for the drawer.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Jackson, Warnecke, Dunnam, Fitzgerald, Watts, Levy and Lombardi show various features of the invention.
